

constance

jenny leblanc visual artist

PROFILE

When she first noticed them in Ms. Rose's tree, she thought they foretold the end. As it turns out, this was a normal occurrence in Ms. Rose's yard. She only hadn't noticed them because she didn't have trees of her own, but yes, she had heard them before. After, she saw them more often than people. Trying to creep closer without scaring them was the greatest. Sometimes they looked dead on Chester's lawn. Later she learned that they like to lounge in dust.

CONTACT

Jenny congratulates the wild "domestic bird" population of the Upper Ninth.

www.hotironpress.com

01 MONKS AND QUAKERS

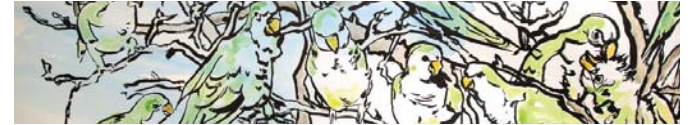

48in. x 90in. screen print and watercolor on paper

02 MONKS AND QUAKERS [DETAIL]

48in. x 90in. screen print and watercolor on paper

03 PIONEERS

48in. x 90in. screen print and watercolor on paper

02

01

03